Outstanding Physician Art Wallace

What a privilege it was for the Foundation to honor Arthur G. Wallace, Jr., D.O. MPH with the 2012 Outstanding Physician Award. Dr. Wallace is an emergency medicine specialist whose career has taken him around the globe to care for patients in the greatest need and who has worked tirelessly, close to home, to train dozens of physicians in his field.

He's a graduate of the Oklahoma State University College of Osteopathic Medicine. He completed his post-graduate education at the Dallas Family Hospital, the University of Oklahoma and the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

Dr. Wallace served as assistant clinical faculty at the Oklahoma State University Center for Health Sciences and as emergency medicine program director at Tulsa Regional Medical Center until 2006. He currently holds an appointment as clinical instructor at the University of Oklahoma-Tulsa College of Medicine. Dr. Wallace cares for patients as an emergency department physician in Broken Arrow, Owasso, and Sapulpa.

He's served DePaul University as a team physician for the in-service learning programs in Siuna, Nicaragua, Quito, Ecuador, and San Salvador, El Salvador. Since 1991 he's held the position of team commander and senior medical officer for the Oklahoma Disaster Medical Assistance Team (OK-1 DMAT) which has taken him to natural disasters like the Joplin tornado, Hurricanes Gustav, Wilma, Katrina, Ivan, and Frances, as well as to man-made tragedies like the Murrah Federal Building response and the 2001 World Trade Center disaster. He's served the Centennial Olympics in Atlanta as strike team leader and on the FEMA platform medical response team for the 2005 Presidential Inauguration. In 2009 he was appointed Deputy Chief Medical Officer for Region 6 by U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, Office of Preparedness and Emergency Operations.

Dr. Wallace exemplifies the attributes that are recognized through this award and continues the legacy of truly outstanding osteopathic physicians who have earned this distinct honor.

Steven Buck, D.O. congratulates the 2012 Outstanding Physician honoree, Arthur G. Wallace, Jr. D.O.

...to improve the health of community through projects consistent with the osteopathic philosophy.

It's part of the Foundation's mission statement and an objective that the Charitable Gifts Committee continually evaluates in making their decisions on allocating resources to community organizations. As we all know, the need is always greater than the available funds, so it's an especially challenging task to decide where our philanthropic support will be directed to do the most good. At their most recent meeting, grants were approved for:

Tulsa DAY CENTER (www.tulsadaycenter.org) to support the continued operation of the free Nurses Clinic which treats the immediate medical needs of the Tulsa Day Center's homeless clients.

H.O.P.E. (www.hopetesting.org) to support the continued growth of the education, testing, counseling and referral programs focused on HIV/AIDS, STD/I, and Hepatitis.

Hutcherson Family YMCA (www.ymcatulsa.org/locations/wl-hutcherson-family) to support CATCH Early Childhood, an obesity prevention program targeting physical activity, health education, and healthy eating for children and their parents in north Tulsa.

Iron Gate (www.irongatetulsa.org) to support the 45% increase in numbers of people seeking assistance from Iron Gate in their mission of feeding the hungry and homeless of Tulsa - everyday.

Youth Services of Tulsa (www.yst.org) to support the Campaign to Defeat the Streets which will build a new outreach center serving the nearly 1,000 homeless youths living on the streets of Tulsa.

Shriners Hospitals for Children Patient Transportation (www.akdarshrine.org/about-kids/) to support the transportation to Shriners Hospitals of the nearly 1200 children in northeast Oklahoma receiving care.

CME Update Don't forget that December 31, 2012 is the end of the AOA's three year cycle for CME. A change this cycle is that you only have five months (May 31, 2013) to submit documentation of earned CME, rather than the previous 17 months. OFF will report for you any hours that you earn through our programs. Generally, AOA members are required to obtain 120 credit hours in a three-year cycle, with at least 30 credits in Category 1-A. The remaining 90 credits may be obtained in CME designated as Category 1-A, 1-B, 2-A, or 2-B. There are so many changes coming in 2013 that the AOA has created a website, www.osteopathic.org/arewethereyet.

The Osteopathic Founders Foundation is proud to be accredited as an osteopathic CME sponsor. We had a great turnout for our recent three hour program "Hot Topics in Primary Care." Many thanks to our speakers, Robert Busch, M.D., Mousumi Som, D.O., and Jeff Stroup, Pharm D for presenting exceptional lectures which all received rave reviews.

Our summer series, "Responding to the Crisis: Prescription Drug Abuse in Oklahoma" has two lectures remaining. Registration is open at the Foundation's website. In addition to AOA 1-A credit, this program will also qualify to meet the "proper prescribing" requirement of the Oklahoma Osteopathic Medicine Act. There is no charge to attend but pre-registration is requested.

Coming up: June 16, we're delighted to partner with Team Health-Morningstar to present "Infectious Emergencies-An Emergency Department Perspective" at Integris Baptist Conference Center in Oklahoma City. The AOA has approved this program for six hours of Category 1-A credit. There's no charge to attend. More information will be coming soon.

The Foundation's medical education committee has started planning our fall program. We're looking for the perfect "football-free" weekend to schedule. Watch the website and facebook page for the announcement of topics and the opening of registration.

We're always interested in hearing your thoughts. Drop me an email with your ideas.
